ELECTION

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Non-inflammatory irritable bowel syndrome or non-inflammatory bowel diseases, diarrhea-predominant irritable bowel syndrome or other non-specific non-inflammatory bowels disorder selected from diverticulosis, diverticulitis, irritable bowel syndrome, bloating, diarrhea, cramping, pain, low abdominal pain, distension, wind, flatulence, gas production, fluid secretion, mucus production, constipation, urgency, non ulcer dyspepsia, spastic colon, unstable colonic neurosis, spastic colitis, mucous colitis, alternating constipation/diarrhea, incontinence, alternating diarrhea and constipation type IBS or constipation IBS.

Applicant is required, in reply to this Action, to elect single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, Applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, Applicants must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

as methods for the treatment or prophylaxis of non-inflammatory bowel disorders comprising administering balsalazide.

The following claims are generic: 1-11.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The various bowel disorders result from distinct etiologies and, in some cases, the etiology is unknown. Different considerations and search strategies are required among the recited pathologies.

The election of a species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should Applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, Applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the Examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
